Surprising Yields

Fields Alive As Combines Harvest Early, Ripe Crop

Under an unending blanket of blue skies and hot sun harvesting in the county is fully under way and could be nearing completion by the middle of the month.

Farmers who this spring looked upon fields laying under two feet of snow during their normal seeding time, and who feared late crops and risk of frost damage are harvesting furiously while wondering about the changes that nature has brought this summer. As they pick up fields of wheat that are running between 20 and 30 bushels to the acre they are giving thanks now for the excessive moisture this spring, which, along with some cool nights late in July and a few scattered showers, appears to have sustained the crops and brought surprising yields.

According to reports from 12 Alberta Wheat Pool agents in the county about 70 per cent of the wheat is swathed, 10 per cent of the oats and 80 per cent of the barley.

Percentages of combining done range from five to 60 on wheat, 0 to 100 on oats and 10 to 80 on barley.

Estimated yields are running from 20 to 30 bushels to the acre on wheat, 30 to 60 bushels on oats and from 25 to 40 bushels to the acres on barley. Very little flax is down as yet and estimates on this crop average about 14 bushels to the acre.

KENNETH H. GATENBY

An employee of the County of Vulcan No. 2 since 1954 and a member of the staff since 1957, Ken Gatenby was appointed assistant secretary-treasurer in 1966 and effective Sept. 1 of this year he became secretary-treasurer, succeeding D. D. McQueen.

Born at Champion, Alta., Mr. Gatenby received his education there and at Claresholm, and his first job was with a bank at Granum.

Married and with two children, Mr. Gatenby is a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Kinsmen Club of Vulcan and the Vulcan Golf & Country Club.

Fire Department Aids In Brant Farm Blaze

The rural pumper of the Vulcan Fire Department was called out to the Brant district at noon Tuesday of this week to a fire which destroyed a bunk house and two other machinery or equipment sheds at the Stacy Graham farm. The farm is located in sight of Highway 23 about four miles north-east of Brant.

A moderate wind which blew burning garbage from the barrel against the bunkhouse, started the fire which also burned a stack of bales and 15 acres of swathed grain. It was feared at one time that the south wind might blow the fire through the quarter-section to the highway.

The fire started some time before noon and Mr. Graham and his son-in-law were out of sight in the fields and unaware of trouble. At first neighbors attempted to battle the blaze but as it gained strength the local department was called.

Although the main house and a multi-car garage were out of the direct path of the fire a propane tank and clothes line were scorched by the heat. At one time a new quoinset building holding 6,000 bushels of barley was surrounded by fire but it was thought a fire guard, plowed around the building earlier, probably saved it. A fire guard in the swathed field also limited damage.

Two pumps supplying water became useless when power was cut off by the fire. This was partially repaired and Calgary Power men were called to give help.

Fire Chief Bob Johnston, Cal and Gerald Rutberg and Tom Wiley took the pumper out and did not complete their call until late afternoon. With normal temperatures in the 80's, added to the heat from the fire the crew welcomed the lunch and cold drinks provided by Mrs. Graham.

The almost brittle dryness of fields this harvest is a constant danger and farmers are moving machinery onto summerfallow overnight.

THIS WON'T HURT! The girls above are part of the staff at the Vulcan Municipal Hospital who gathered one night recently to introduce two new nurses, in the foreground, to town friends.

Susamma Varghese, left front, and Mariamma Varghese are two cousins from New Delhi, India, who are entering the nursing field in this part of the world. On Aug. 5, they arrived by air at Montreal and two days later they were starting from the local nurses' quarters at miles and miles of flat green farm land.

The girls trained at Guntur and their home is at Punalur-Kevala and spent four years nursing at New Delhi. It was through friends at Calgary and Edmonton that they heard of employment opportunity at Vulcan.

English was taught at school in India but the rapid and flavored speech of the girls is as yet somewhat hazy to the listener. At the hospital they are with other girls constantly to eliminate any language problems.

By now the girls have probably taken on our western attire but at the time their street clothes were saris, common apparel to their native country.

You could imagine a patient waking to find either of the pert and pretty nurses in the background, Alice Mathewson and Donna Jenks taking his pulse and wondering, "What're these gals up to now". But to come out of deep sleep and be holding hands with Susamma or Mariamma... a fellow might envision the glorious splendour of the Taj Mahal, the maidens and the wafting fans and all. Or he might suspect he's a lot sicker than the doctor told him he was.

Students, Teachers Back Again

A Change Is As Good As A Rest

After 15 years in one career as well as that of a housewife and mother, Helen "Mae" Chapman of Lomond is retiring to return to another vocation. These past years Mrs. Chapman has been secretary-treasurer of the Village of Lomond but Tuesday of this week she joined others of her third profession back to the classrooms and the business of teaching.

She has a 17-year teaching stint behind her and hadn't any great notions about going back this year. "But I guess they got me in a weak moment," she says.

She is looking forward to this change in her ways but will miss her post in the centre of community activity. In her position, now being advertised for replacement, Mrs. Chapman found the hours more or less flexible with the occasional full-time duty required but generally, "being available when needed."

BIG CUCUMBER

The biggest cucumber we've seen in many years was brought into The Advocate office last week by Dave Decker of the Newdale Hutterite Colony at Queenstown.

Solid and perfectly formed, the big cuke weighed almost three pounds and was grown in the colony's big irrigated garden.

Two months holidays ended Tuesday of this week when approximately 1,980 students of county schools returned to classrooms to face over 100 teachers ready to resume studies.

For county officials it has been a summer of advertising and campaigning far and wide to supply instruction staff in the face of the increasingly serious shortage of teachers. County Central High School and Hazel Cameron Elementary Schools at Vulcan are fully staffed. At Carmangay, a shortage of teachers for grades 3 and 4 exists while Milo is in

Calgary Angler Drowns At Lake McGregor

Luigi Iuliani, 44-year-old resident of Calgary drowned about 6:30 p.m., Monday of this week while fishing on the dam at the north end of Lake McGregor.

Apparently the fisherman either slipped or fell into the lake. The lake depth is low at this time of year and others nearby could see him in the water but none could swim and the body was finally recovered when a boat was hailed. The man was taken across the lake and mouth to mouth resuscitation was applied. Rescue equipment from Milo was summoned as Mr. Iuliani was worked on for a further length of time to no avail.

R.C.M.P. at Gleichen were called and the dead man was taken to Bassano for examination by a coroner.

Tony, Joe Perlich Open New Auction Market, Lethbridge

Joe and Tony Perlich, well known auctioneers of Lethbridge and Picture Butte, have opened Western Canada's newest auction market, the Lethbridge Livestock Auction Market, three miles east of Lethbridge on Highway 3 and one-quarter mile south.

Maximum cleanliness will be maintained in the auction market by a concrete base throughout all buildings, corrals and pens. The main building contains a carload size ring and seating for 250 people. The livestock barn has facilities for 800 hogs and 50 dairy cows and 50 outside pens will handle about 1,000 head of cattle. The market has four truck chutes and branding and vaccinating facilities.

The market will handle purebred and special livestock sales in addition to the regular Thursday sales of livestock. Perlich Bros. will continue to operate their farm sales and equipment sales auctioneering service. Their offices will now be in the new location.

OPEN UP! Hon. Edgar Gerhart, Minister of Municipal Affairs, is shown above as he cuts the ribbon of Vulcan Administration Building Aug. 23. With him is Reeve Jack Deitz and Secretary-treasurer D. D. McQueen in the foreground. A guest book signed by many who toured the new building indicated about 200 from many points were on hand for the opening.

Expo Is Fascinating Fun-filled Week

(In an earlier issue the summer trip to Expo by County students was described by Larry Mumby. This is the concluding portion of this account.)

The County of Vulcan Centennial Travellers spent five days at the Expo site. Perhaps the easiest way to describe Expo is to give a quick tour of the three islands.

Each day, the tourist began by a bus trip from Elmvale Student Village to Expo. A short walk from the parking lot brought the tourist to Place d'Accueil where he had his passport stamped allowing his admission to Expo.

From Place d'Accueil he could tour the Expo Theatre, the CBC Pavilion as well as enjoy the beauty of the Industrial Design, Fine Arts, and Photography Pavilions.

The tourist could then descend the steps at Place d'Accueil and board the Expo Express. The Expo Express was a fully remote control train donated by the Swiss government to Expo. A ride upon this train gives a complete view of Expo.

As the train leaves Place d'Accueil, the tourist sees, on the left, the Expo Harbour, where vessels such as the Bluenose are moored for inspection by tourists. On the right, he passes the immense architectural wonder of Habitat '67. These marvellous apartments (158 in all) were furnished by Good Housekeeping and Chatelaine. The rent, unfurnished, is estimated between $500 and $700 per month.

Next, the tourist sees the pavilion of Man and His Health and the pavilion of Man and His Community. Within these pavilions the tourist sees man's control over his problems in health, as well as a complete history of the medical field. He also views the different characteristics of man — laziness, segregation, destruction, urbanism and conqueror.

THE HOMEMAKER

MISS FRANCES ANN CULLEN
District Home Economist

Box 480, Vulcan — Phone 485-2117

Dear Homemakers,

FARM SAFETY FOR ALL

Every fall we read headlines about someone's child that has been maimed or died in a farm accident that could have been prevented by a little forethought and care.

Probably no single group of children in Canada are exposed to as many potential accident situations as are farm children. Yet, according to the Alberta Safety Council, many of the accidents that occur each year could have been prevented if a few common sense precautionary measures had been taken and small children had been more carefully supervised.

One of these potential accident situations concerns the grain bin. Many of today's farmers will recall the fun they had rolling about in the grain when they were children, but they forget that the dangers involved in such a game are far greater today than they were a generation ago. The modern grain auger, used for filling and emptying these bins, can literally cause a child to drown in a bin of grain.

He can be buried alive while the bin is filling or he may fall asleep and gradually sink into the grain until he is suffocated. The danger is equally great when the bin is being emptied. Nothing is easier for a child than to fall into the cone that is formed in the grain while the bin is being emptied from the bottom by an auger. The chances are a young child will not have the strength or stamina to escape and his cries for help will be drowned by the noise of the machine. This situation is particularly dangerous in a round grain bin that has no hand-holds.

Small children can also have their breathing seriously impaired from coming in close contact with smutty barley or rusty grain.

Throughout the province one comes across a child or adult who has been permanently crippled from an accident involving a piece of farm machinery which had been left unattended by its operator or which had been inadequately fitted with safety guards. Grain augers are often a prime example of such carelessness. They should never be left unattended and should be shielded with a heavy wire mesh, especially when there are children around.

Potential dangers connected with swathing include such things as a power-take-off which does not have a shield over it and a cutting bar which is left running while the operator removes an obstruction. An equally dangerous situation is created when an operator starts fixing or adjusting the machine while the motor is stopped but the power-take-off is still in gear.

Combines are probably responsible for a greater percentage of farm accidents than any other piece of machinery on the premises. Pulleys and belts in motion are especially dangerous at night.

Putting a dab of paint, or some tape or other mark on them will reduce the hazard by facilitating better detection.

Backing up to and driving away from a grain auger creates another dangerous situation unless it is done with care. Always check to make sure that the wheels of the vehicle are clear before starting off. Again, this precaution is particularly important when there are children in the vicinity. The amount it takes to check could save months or years of heart-ache.

Finally, avoid extreme fatigue. The one or two hundred bushels of grain that can be harvested during an extra hour of work are not worth the risk of losing an arm, leg, or your life.

SHE'S A RIOT. Comedienne Kay Ballard at right is a scream anytime and she can prove it even in a TV film series like The Mothers-In-Law, a new half-hour comedy seen Wednesdays in color on the CBC-TV network. Comedienne-actress Eve Arden co-stars with Kay in this zany story about two neighboring families who find they "have" to get together when their romantic-minded siblings decide to get married.

BETTER PASTURES WITH RUSSIAN WILD RYEGRASS

Russian wild ryegrass is extremely drought-resistant, puts on high beef gains, and is palatable throughout the whole year. It is more tolerant to alkali than most other grasses commonly grown in areas that have only 10 to 15 inches of precipitation.

Nutritional qualities are excellent throughout the growing season. Russian wild ryegrass is palatable to cattle and sheep throughout the season. It retains its nutritional values comparatively well, even for winter grazing.

Russian wild ryegrass can be grazed as early as crested wheatgrass in the spring but excels it as a fall or winter pasture. Grazing tests at our Substation at Manyberries show that sheep gained weight while on Russian wild ryegrass pasture during late fall. On native range or crested wheatgrass pastures the sheep lost weight.

Russian wild ryegrass can be easily established even though its seedling vigor is low. For instance, in a three-month test in the greenhouse, it produced the least leaf and root material, and brome the most, of six grasses studied. It grew better at a soil temperature of 68 degrees than at 45, 54, or 80 degrees.

Russian wild ryegrass should be seeded at four to five pounds per acre in 18 or 21-inch rows. Seeding in late fall is best as the seed does not germinate until early spring when moisture is plentiful. The seed-bed should be well prepared and free of weeds. Drill the seed no deeper than one-half inch in heavy soils or one inch in light soils. If the soil is loose, use depth controls on the disc-type drills. Probably most failures in seeding this grass are caused by seeding too deeply or grazing too soon after seeding.

Do not get impatient if you cannot see the grass come up the following spring. The young seedlings are minute, fine, and exceedingly inconspicuous when they first come through the ground. For this reason stands of Russian wild ryegrass that are in the making and doing well may not show any sign of life even to the closest observer.

At the Substation at Manyberries, Russian wild ryegrass seeded in 1961, which was a very dry year, developed into an excellent stand and was grazed by 1964. Once established, it becomes a permanent pasture.

If you are interested, get in touch with the office, or if there is enough interest we could make up a carload or several carloads and tour the Substation to inspect this Russian Wild Ryegrass firsthand. In any case, if you have an interest in this type of grass for pasture, get in touch with the office.

Nearly half of South America's 162,000,000 people live in Brazil, and that country's population is increasing by more than one million a year.

LOMOND

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Ruppert and family were Lethbridge visitors on Friday of last week.

A grass fire at the Hartwick farm caused a bit of apprehension on Tuesday morning. It was believed to have caught fire from burning garbage. The fire alarm sounded about 10:45 a.m., however it was brought under control with little damage. Everyone is really afraid to even light garbage right now with everything being so terribly dry. Last Saturday the fire truck was called to the Alex Hildebrand home to a fire along the same line as Tuesday's.

Gordon Gray of Calgary was a weekend visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Gray.

Miss Margaret Ruppert of Lethbridge was a visitor last weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Ruppert and family.

Miss Donna Mae Wong and her father Joe spent a couple of days in Calgary last week before Donna returned to Saskatoon to continue her studies.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Gillespie of Calgary were weekend visitors at Lomond.

Mrs. Velma Porter of Vulcan was a weekend visitor at the Pete Ruppert home.

Mrs. Pete Ruppert was hostess recently when a number of ladies gathered at her home to hold a little surprise party for Mrs.

Phyllis Pytlarz, who is leaving in the near future to make her home in Vancouver.

The Misses Lynette Tolsdorf and Paula Walker are taking their Grade XII in Vulcan. Another of the Grade XII students Doug Bouduc is attending school in Calgary. All in all seems as though Lomond will have a small Grade XII class. Possibly this is partly due to the semester system being offered in the larger centres.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to young Wayne Volesky who underwent an appendectomy at the Vulcan Hospital last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Fernley and son Dougie of Lethbridge were weekend visitors at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huff.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Huff of Hoadley were visitors at the Dick Teasdale home last weekend.

A farewell party was held at the Lomond Community Centre on Friday evening, Sept. 1, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Harris Caulfield who will be making their home in Calgary. Mrs. Caulfield is teaching school up there this term.

A wedding dance honoring Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson was held Saturday evening, Sept. 2, at the Lomond Community Centre, with a good attendance.

Miss Elaine Hart returned home Saturday to attend school after working in Calgary for two months and she also visited in Bassano last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bell of Bassano attended the Thompson wedding dance last Saturday evening.

On Monday morning your correspondent received a phone call from a distinguished gentleman from the States who has spent the past week visiting in the village. He asked if it were possible to put this item in the paper so that all residents might read it and give it a bit of thought: He said we have a fine little village, lovely sidewalks, many nice homes and buildings, trees, etc., however in strolling around one must walk on the street as the trees have such low branches that it is impossible to walk under many of them. Also people's hedges are sorely in need of trimming. One has to step off the sidewalk to get around them. He said it is quite possible that the people themselves are so accustomed to this that they take no notice of it; and that perhaps if their attention were drawn to it, they would take more pride in it and try to change these conditions; making the village look as though it were lived in rather than a ghost town that is growing up in weeds.

FAT STOCK SHOW

Paul Maier, a local Shorthorn breeder, has completed quite a successful summer on the show circuit. Even though he did not show his regular line of short-horns, he presented keen competition to others in the market classes with steers.

At the Lethbridge Exhibition, Mr. Maier's Shorthorn steer placed second in the carcass class. In the live judging, it stood only fourth receiving 18 out of 28 points. However 63 out of 72 points were picked up on the carcass appraisal for a lot of 81 of a possible 100. The animal yielded 61.8% — highest of the class. The first place steer, a Hereford, shown by Steve Balog of Milk River under Judge John Hay of Nanton was given 26 points of 28 in live placing and an additional 57 points out of 72 awarded in carcass appraisal for a total of 83 of a possible 100. The third place animal, a Hereford, shown by McIntyre Ranching Co. was given the full 28 out of 28 points possible for "live" judging, scored only 33 points out of 72 in carcass appraisal with a final score of 61.

The second show that of Medicine Hat Exhibition brought in first place prize money to Mr. Maier. The Shorthorn steer placed in first position in live judging and remained first spot in carcass grading also. Mr. Lore of Edmonton was the keen judge.

The Champion steer at Vauxhall Fair recently was also exhibited by Mr. Maier. This animal was a cross-bred and the class was only judged by live placings.

ENSIGN

On Sunday, Aug. 27 a family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Brown. This was the first reunion for the family for several years and those present were their three daughters Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hickey and family of Rochford Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Roth and family of Bow Island, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm MacMurdo and family of Calgary and their son, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brown and family of Ensign.

Mrs. Peggy Brown of Midnapore is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. B. Brown during the harvest season.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Halka of Aylmer, Ont., were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Mote for a few days. The Halkas were on their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wells of Calgary are holidaying at the Paton home. While here Jim is helping with the harvest.

Visitors for a few days at the Jim Massam home were Jim's cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kleinshroth. Elmer is a school teacher at Edmonton. On Saturday evening all motored to Claresholm where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Bob Massam and family. Mr. and Mrs. David Hansen and family of Calgary spent the long holiday weekend at Little Bow Park.

Miss Marion Bargase and her cousin Miss Susan Bargase from India, who are now on the nursing staff at the Vulcan Hospital were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hansen on Aug. 27. In the evening they accompanied Mrs. Hansen, Donald and Marilyn to Carmangay where they all enjoyed the entertainment by Linda Flitton.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Horne of Calgary spent the holiday weekend with Mrs. Ollie McFadden. While here Carsons helped with the harvesting.

NEWS FROM BLUNT'S NURSING HOME

We are pleased to welcome Mrs. Nilsine Ostero of Barons as a new resident. Paul Ost of Lomond was a resident for the past two weeks and was well enough to return home.

Calvin Lowery of Blackie is a patient in the Calgary General Hospital to have surgery.

Mrs. K. Sims is at present a patient in the local hospital.

Mrs. Blanche Larratt of Brooks celebrated her birthday on Aug. 20.

The residents and staff were pleasantly entertained by Miss Kathy Sokvitne who showed slides on Norway.

During the past two weeks the residents have been entertained by Mrs. Emma Smith of Carmangay on the piano. Rev. W. Dormer on the piano and John Didier of Nanton sang accompanied by his mother on the piano. The entertainment was greatly appreciated and hope they will all come back again.

We would like to thank Miss Myrna Minty for helping on staff during July and August and our wishes go with for success in her business course.

Visitors at the home were from Grasmere, B.C., High River, Lethbridge, Nanton, Cremona, Edmonton, Carmangay, Champlon, Lomond and surrounding district.

Expo Is Fascinating Fun-Filled Week

Further down the tourist comes to the Labyrinth. Built by the National Film Board, the Labyrinth reveals the maze of problems and obstructions to the life of man.

The train soon comes to a halt at Station Place des Nations on Ile Saint-Helene. On this island the tourist can view the immense pavilion of the USA with its representation of space and movie industries; the Iranian pavilion which describes its seaworthy population; the Canadian Telephone Pavilion which shows the futuristic views of cinematography; and many other pavilions too numerous to mention individually.

The tourist, instead of boarding the Expo Express, takes a ride upon the mini-rail viewing all the pavilions at a glance. He disembarks upon Ile Notre-Dame for a view of each pavilion. Upon this island he sees the majority of the pavilions at Expo.

The aspect of science and technology is seen in the USSR Pavilion; the diversities within the British people are viewed in the United Kingdom Pavilion; the French industries are observed in the pavilion of France; and the small African states are seen at a glance in Africa Place. The much acclaimed Czechoslovakian Pavilion with its blown glass, antiques of history, carvings and mosaic screen is perhaps the best Expo pavilion. Germany, Canada, Israel, Egypt, each Canadian Province and the United Nations Pavilions added to the list of pavilions upon Ile Notre-Dame.

The tourist once again boards the Expo Express and departs for La Ronde. Here he rides the Gyrotron, gondola and goes site-seeing upon the Spiral. He notices the cleanliness and lack of noise which surrounds this amusement park. He concludes his tour by a walk through the bazaar. Here he wanders through the boutiques (souvenir shops) representing 44 countries. He watches the changing of the guard at the Quebec site and enjoys the water show upon the lake surrounding the Dancing Waters.

It is early evening now and the tourist decides to walk back to Ile Saint-Helene. He walks through the quiet beautiful parks and listens to the magnificent bells and chimes of the Carillon. He takes a walk through the streets by the pavilions. The pavilions are closed for the evening but their lights reveal the beautiful and unique architecture of each pavilion.

The Things We Did Last Summer

BOOTS AND SADDLES. As residents may remember, the morning of Tuesday, Aug. 15 broke clear and sunny and by 10:00 a.m., another blistering hot day was on its way. Some farm folks gave up and went to the mountains, some townspeople plumped down under a tree while others slugged away at what had to be done. And then there was Kathy McNiven (left, above) and Leslie Cooke.

Both girls are from the Herron district and it would take a psychologist trained in the minds of 17- and 18-year-old girls to know what prompted them to make a 37-mile horseback ride from the McNiven farm to the Ted Holmes farm south-west of Champion on such a day.

Anyway the girls saddled up at 5:00 a.m. and had a cool hour or so before Kathy's horse, bothered earlier with a glass cut, went lame and father Dan had to be called. About this time of the morning Dan was counting sheep — he raises them — but he loaded up another horse and son had them in motion again. A hand-out at the local dairy bar was appreciated and when The Advocate photographer happened by, there were hopes of more lunch but the proffered cigar had to be turned down.

Mostly the trip was uneventful.

Ferguson-Greene Wedding Held At Church Of Christ

The Vulcan Church of Christ was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, June 17 when Marilyn Arlene, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Greene of Vulcan, became the bride of Lyle George Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ferguson of Champion. Rev. Ronald Pelham officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The altar was tastefully decorated with baskets of mauve and white lilies and white candles. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a floor-length gown of peau de egleance trimmed with lace and seed pearls. A beautiful full length train applied with lace flowed gracefully from the waistline. Her bouffant illusion net veil was held in place by a single rose and she carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and white carnations. A gold cross necklace seeded with a single pearl, a gift of the groom, completed her bridal ensemble.

The bridal attendants were Jean Hess as maid of honor and Heather Southerton and Norma Ferguson, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids. The three attendants wore identical floor length gowns of mint green peau de charme with matching headpieces and carried bouquets of white and yellow shasta daisies. Cindy Keenan was the flower girl and wore a white eyelet dress trimmed with mint green. She carried a nosegay of daisies.

Attending the groom as best man was Douglas Rhodes of Champion. Bruce Klaiber of Strathmore and Ronald Greene (brother of the bride), were ushers.

Mrs. Ivan Haga played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Edwin Hilz as she sang the Wedding Prayer and the Wedding Benediction.

A reception for 154 guests followed in the Lodge hall. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake tastefully decorated with tiny yellow roses and daisies and flanked by yellow tapers.

Rev. Ronald Pelham asked the blessing. Dennis Walters acted as master of ceremonies. Telegrams were read from Juskatla, I.C.

Islands, Terrace, Cranbrook, B.C. The toast to the bride was given by Ivan Haga, and responded to by the groom. Douglas Rhodes gave a toast to the bridesmaids. Deane Vaage was in charge of the guest book.

Fay Nago and Jackie McDonald from the Galt School of Nursing entertained with several songs.

Following the reception a dance was held in Champion with Alex Fraser's orchestra in attendance.

For going away the bride changed to a winter white dress and matching green coat with beige and brown accessories. An orchid corsage complemented her outfit.
